Arvest Classic 2017: Parkview High School will again host the "Arvest Classic" with games Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, Nov. 30th—Dec 2nd. The tournament is loaded with great teams and some outstanding individual talents. Games will begin at 4:00pm on Thursday with St. Joe Lafayette and D2 National Champion Northwest Missouri State commit Diego Bernard taking on Lafayette (Wildwood) from the St. Louis area. At 5:30 local power Nixa will play Fayetteville, AR, featuring Division 1 recruit Collin Cooper, a 6'1 shooting guard. The Vikings will play the 7:00 game against DeSmet Jesuit from the Metro Catholic Conference in St. Louis. The Spartans are coached by former Missouri State Bears assistant Kent Williams. The final game of the night is scheduled to tip-off at 8:30pm between Kickapoo and Raytown. Raytown comes back after a 3rd place finish in the tournament last year, returning a solid core group of players, led by Devin Drew, a 6'3 forward who earned an All-Tournament Team selection last year. I want to send a huge thank you to our sponsors at Arvest Bank for making this great tournament possible! We are looking forward to three exciting days of high school basketball!
